The Nevada County Economic Resource Council Foundation recently received a $5,000 AT&T Excelerator grant to update the Economic Resource Council (ERC) Web site.

AT&T grants help nonprofits meet their missions by improving technology resources, including hardware, software and networking tools. These grants also help nonprofit organizations put technology tools into the hands of the communities they serve, providing resources such as Internet access, computer training, math and reading programs, and job skills development.

The mission of the Economic Resource Council Foundation is to enhance the ability of the ERC to provide education and training to local businesses and economic data to members of the general public.
